Forthcoming Industrial Action

Dear Parents and Carers,

As I am sure you're aware, the NEU teaching union has joined many other sectors and will be calling their members out on strike for 4 days which will affect our school over the coming weeks.

We are making contingency plans in school and we intend to stay open for all children during the strike days that have been announced so far. We will only close to pupils should staffing ratios mean we are unable to safely care for your children. If this should become necessary, I will give you as much notice as possible.

During the strike days, we may choose to bring together groups and classes with teachers and support staff working together, as long as pupils' health and safety is ensured. For pupils older than seven there are no set ratios for the number of staff required to supervise pupils on site. Children's learning and activities may be adjusted to accommodate these changes and better meet the skill set and experience of staff who are available.

I will keep you updated with any further information as soon as it is available,

Yours sincerely,

Jon Bacon
Headteacher
